Select Poetry.

CHARITY.

If we knew the cares and crosses
  Crowding round our neighbor's way
If we knew the little losses,
  Sorely grieveous day by day,
Would we then so often chide him
  For his lack of thrift and gain?
Leaving on his heart a shadow—
  Leaving on our lives a stain.

If we knew the clouds above us,
  Held but gentle blessing there,
Would we turn away all trembling.
  In our blind and weak dispair?
Would we shrink from little shadows
  Flitting o'er the dewy grass,
If we knew that birds of Eden
  Were in mercy flying past?

If we knew the silent story,
  Quivering thro' the heart of pain,
Would we drive it with our coldness,
  Back to haunts of guilt again?
Life hath many a tangled crossing,
  Joy hath many a break of woe;
But the cheeks tear-washed, are whitest
  And kept in life are flowers by snow,

Let us reach into our bosoms,
  For the key to other lives,
And with love toward erring nature,
  Cherish good that still survives;
So that when our disrobed spirits,
  Soar to realms of light above,
We may say, "Dear Father, love us,
  E'en as we have shown our love."

Biographical.

Wm. Fisher Packer.

Ex. Governor William Fisher Packer died at his residence in Williamsport on the 27th ult., in the 64th year of his age.

As the life and public services of this distinguished citizen of Pennsylvania will be eagerly sought after at this time, we herewith present such facts as we have been able to collect. In order that all may understand the means by which he acquired his eminent position, we commence with his birth and parentage.

William Fisher Packer was born in Howard township, Centre county, on the 2d of April, 1807, and was descended from a highly respectable family, who belonged to the Society of Friends, and were zealous Whigs of our Revolutionary period. His grand-father, James Packer, was born in 1725, on a farm in New Jersey, where the town of Princeton now stands. His father, also named James, was born in Chester county. On the maternal side he was connected with the Pettits, a large and influential family of this State. When he was but seven years old his father died, leaving a widow and five small children. At this tender age he was under the necessity of contributing to his own support, and that of the family, by the most severe and exhausting labor; and some years afterward he traveled from Bellefonte to Sunbury, for the purpose of learning the printing business with his cousin, Saml, J. Packer, formerly a distinguished Senator, and then editor of the Public Inquirer, a paper which advocated, with great ability, the re-election of William Findlay, for Governor, in 1820. Some time after the defeat of Mr. Findlay, the Inquirer was discontinued, and in 1823 the subject of this sketch returned to Bellefonte to complete his knowledge of the printing business, in the office of the Bellefonte Patriot, then under the control of Henry Petriken, Esq., who was subsequently distinguished as a Senator. Having completed his apprenticeship in May, 1825, he at once repaired to Harrisburg, where he was employed as a journeyman printer in the years 1825, 1826 and 1827. On the 19th of December, 1827, he purchased an interest in the Lycoming Gazette from Col. James Cameron, and became associated in the publication of that paper with James Brandon. This partnership was continued until the 17th of August, 1829, when Mr. Brandon having died, he became sole editor and proprietor. He continued to edit and publish the Gazette alone until the 19th of December, 1832, when Col. John R. Eck became associated with him as a partner. On the 11th of May, 1836, he disposed of his interest to Col. Eck, and retired from the paper. During his editorial career he evinced great talent and perspicuity as a political writer, and advocated the election of General Jackson, Martin Van Buren, George Wolf and other prominent Democrats of that period.

General Packer, as he was familiarly called, was married in 1829 to Miss Mary Wyckoff Vanderbelt, a daughter of the venerable Peter Vanderbelt, Esq., of this city, who is still living at the advanced age of 84 years. Miss Vanderbelt was the grand-daughter of Michael Ross, Esq., a gentleman distinguished for the energy of his character and strength of mind. He was the original owner of the land on which this flourishing city now stands.

Soon after his connection with the Gazette he became identified with political movements, and as he gave promise of being a speaker of unusual ability and eloquence, was frequently called upon to defend the principles of the party of which he was a member. In 1831, shortly after the improvement system had commenced in Pennsylvania, and after the West Branch canal had been adopted as a part of the system, through the votes and influence of the Philadelphia members, it was left out of the Improvement Bill, and was thus threatened with abandonment. Had this decision been adhered to, the people of this fertile valley would have been deprived from deriving any benefit from the large expenditure of the public money for improvement purposes. Public meetings were immediately held, addresses were delivered, resolutions adopted, and an appeal made to the people of Philadelphia against the suicidal policy of their own members. This had the desired effect—the members retraced their steps and voted for the West Branch Improvement, and it was thus saved. In all these proceedings General Packer, though a very young man, bore a leading and conspicuous part; and to his efforts, more than to any other man, were the people of this valley indebted for the construction of the canal. As the work progressed, the public voice very properly called for his appointment as Superintendent, as a reward for his valuable services. The appointment was made, and he continued to discharge the duties of the station until the spring of 1835, to the entire satisfaction of the people. During the time he held the office, and superintended the building of the canal, he disbursed more than a million and a quarter of dollars without the loss of a single dollar of the State.

In 1835, being a warm friend of Governor Wolf, he received the Democratic nomination for the State Senate, in the district composed of the counties of Lycoming, Centre, Clearfield, McKean and Potter. His competitor was Alexander Irvin, Esq. But as the party was very much distracted that year, on account of the warm contest between the friends of Wolf and Muhlenberg, Irvin defeated him by 570 majority, the aggregate vote being as follows: Irvin, 4243; Packer, 3673.

In 1836, soon after severing his connection with the Lycoming Gazette, he became associated with Messrs. Park and Barret in the publication and editorial management of the Harrisburg Keystone, a political newspaper of prominence in the State at that time. This connection was continued until 1841, a period of nearly five years.

As early as 1838, General Packer had greatly distinguished himself by his political tact and the power of his eloquence as a speaker at the public meetings of the people, in advocating the election of David R. Porter, the Democratic candidate for Governor. In 1839 he was appointed Canal Commissioner, in connection with Hon. James Clarke, and Hon. E. B. Hubly, and continued to discharge, with unsurpassed ability, the highly responsible and difficult duties of that office, until February, 1842, a period of three years. In May, 1843, he received the appointment of Auditor General of the Commonwealth, and continued to discharge the duties of that office until May, 1845, a period of two years. His office gave him a seat in the cabinet of the State Executive, and thus called into action his superior knowledge of men, of measures, and of the diversified interests of the Commonwealth. Holding jurisdiction over all the public accounts, the large expenditures of money for public improvements, and the numerous difficult questions and complicated cases which arose for adjudication, called for the exercise of the soundest judgment; and no mind, save one enlightened by an extensive acquaintance with common law and equity principles, as well as with the statutes of the Commonwealth, would have discharged the duties of that office with more ability and fidelity. The settlement of the claims of the domestic creditors, with the other business of the office, arising from the increased public expenditures for improvements and other purposes, rendered the duties of the Auditor General far more burdensome than they have been since, or had ever been before, at any period in the history of the State government. And the ability displayed by him, his perfect mastery of every question which arose, and his impartiality in the discharge of his high duties in the settlement of those questions, were acknowledged by men of all parties.

In 1846 General Packer was elected a member of the House of Representatives from the district composed of the counties of Lycoming, Clinton and Potter; but by a singular mistake in carrying out the returns of one of the townships in Clinton county, his competitor, Benjamin F. Pauling, of Washington township, Lycoming county, was returned as elected, and actually served during the whole of the session before the error was discovered. In 1847 he was a candidate again—secured the nomination, and was triumphantly elected to the House of Representatives over Jarvis B. Manly, Esq., by a majority of 684 in this county, and over 1,500 in the district. Although this was his first appearance as a member of a legislative body, his knowledge of the public interests, his acquaintance with parliamentary rules, and his business capacity were so universally known and acknowledged, that he was at once chosen by his fellow-members to preside over their deliberations as Speaker of the House. The selection of a new member to a post of such great responsibility, and requiring such varied and extensive abilities, may be regarded as a high honor in which the distinguished deceased was the sole recipient in his native State. Such a recognition of pre-eminent abilities is of rare occurrence anywhere; and, it is believed, never occured before in Pennsylvania.

In 1848 he was re-elected to the House, his competitor being Hon. Jno. Smith, now one of the Associate Judges of the Court. The vote in this county stood as follows:—Packer, 2,227; Smith, 1,173. Although he only had 54 majority in this county, it was more in the district.

The exciting campaign of that year and triumphant election of Gen. Taylor to the Presidency, had produced disastrous results to the Democratic party, and had given the Whigs a large majority in the Senate of Pennsylvania, and reduced the Democratic members in the House to a bare equality in numbers with their opponents. Notwithstanding this circumstance, and although every member was in attendance at the organization of the House, Gen. Packer was again elected Speaker of that body.—Considering his strong attachment to Democratic principles, his great influence and continual activity as a writer, and as a public speaker, his second elevation to the Speaker's chair must be regarded as an honorable and magnanimous tribute to his talents and integrity, and to the impartiality and ability with which he had discharged the high duties of that office at the previous session.

After serving his last term in the House of Representatives he retired to his house in Williamsport. But he was not permitted to remain idle for any length of time, as his eminent abilities were anxiously sought after by the great party to which he belonged—then in the zenith of power—and he was nominated and elected State Senator in 1849, over A. G. Curtin, Esq., carrying the county of Lycoming by 366 majority.

In 1857 his name was brought forward as a candidate for Governor, and at the convention which assembled at Harrisburg that year, he received the nomination over the Hon. W. H. Witte. At the election in October he was triumphantly elected, receiving 188,887 votes. His competitor, the Hon. David Wilmot, received 146,136 votes, and 28,132 were cast for Hazelhurst. His majority over Wilmot was 23,751; over all, 14,619. The previous year James Buchanan had barely carried the State by a majority of 607 over Fremont and Fillmore.

The administration of Governor Packer was marked with great energy and vigor, and he retired from the chair conscious of having faithfully discharged the great trust confided to him, and to the eminent satisfaction of the people generally. The principal feature of his administration was the sale of the public works to private parties, whereby the State was relieved of a great responsibility, and what had been the source of much contention and corruption in politics. He was succeeded by Hon. A. G. Curtin, the present Minister to the Court of St. Petersburg.

Governor Packer possessed a mind well stored with useful knowledge. Although self-taught, his education was not neglected. He was familiar with the current literature of the day, and with the teachings of history and philosophy. Although not a member of the legal profession, he was a much better lawyer than many who belonged to it. His thorough acquaintance with legal principles, and constitutional and parliamentary law, eminently qualified him for the duties of presiding officer and Executive of the State. And so satisfactory were his decisions during the two sessions he presided in the Legislature, that there is no instance of a single reversal by the House. In one instance, it is related, an appeal was taken, but on hearing his reasons, and the authorities cited to sustain his decision, the judgment of the chair was unanimously sustained; the member who took the appeal acknowledged his error and voted against his own appeal to sustain the decision of the chair!

It may, with great truth, be said of Gov. Packer, that he was indebted to his own industry for the education and knowledge he attained. He was sincere in his political principles, and always ready to devote his time and talents to their advocacy and defence. As a terse, vigorous writer, and logical speaker, he had few, if any, superiors in the State. He was remarkable for his elegant manners and kind disposition towards all, and always commanded great respect. On leaving the Executive Chair in 1861, he retired from public life, and lived quietly and unmostentationsly surrounded by his family and neighbors. His hospitable home was always open to his numerous friends who eagerly sought his society. His wife survives him, and he leaves two sons and daughters. For several weeks previous to his death he was closely confined to his room, his robust constitution gradually giving way to the complication of diseases which were working upon him. His sufferings at no time, we are informed, were severe. Although not a member of any religious denomination, he was a devout Christian, and calmly yielded up his spirit in hopes of immortality beyond the grave. The death of such an eminent public citizen will cause profound sorrow in the community, but it will be consoling to his bereaved family and friends to realize that his memory will be fondly cherished. Peace to his ashes.—Gazette and Bulletin.

KINDNESS.

No man hath measured the power of kindness for it is boundless; no man hath seen its death, for it is eternal. In all ages of the world, in every clime, among every kind, it hath shone out a bright and beautiful star, a beaming glory!

Look at the case of Saul and David. Bitter and blasting jealousy filled the heart of Saul, and "he sought to take the young man's life." With hellish hate, he hunted him, even to the dens and caves of the earth. But David conquered his enemy—even the proud spirit of haughty Saul, he humbled. And how? Not with sword and spear, not with harsh words and coarse contumely—for these did never touch the heart with gentle influences. No; but with a weapon, simple as the shepherd's sling, yet sure as the arrow of death. 'Twas kindness! This killed rankling hatred, and left Saul to live. And when it had done its work, Saul said to David: "Thou art more righteous than I, for thou hast rewarded me good, whereas I have rewarded thee evil." Was not here a victory, glorious, and godlike?

See Joseph in the hands of his wicked brethren. For a few pieces of paltry silver they sold him into Egypt. Providence, in kindness, broke the bands which held him in slavery, and made him a ruler there. Famine spread over the land her dark mantle, and the cruel brethren of Joseph hungered. They went to Egypt for corn. And now how acted Joseph? More than once he filled their sacks and returned them their money; and then he made himself known! "I am Joseph, your brother, whom ye sold into Egypt!" Here was kindness—forgiveness. And it crushed to death the spirit of jealousy that had once made him a slave. He had conquered!

Come further down in the world's history, and tell us what word of all those spoken by the "meek and lowly Jesus," the "Prince of Peace," the "Savior of the world," was best calculated to soften and subdue the hard hearts of his persecutors! Are we not asked to listen to the soft, sweet tones of that voice, "Father, forgive them?" O, here was kindness!

The Diamond.

The cutting and polishing of diamonds involves a loss of nearly one-half of their weight. So difficult is the art, that it is said there is but one lapidary in the world—Coster, of Amsterdam—to whom stones of extraordinary size would be intrusted. The universal standard by which the diamond is estimated is the carat, formerly exactly equivalent to four grains, Troy weight. It is now, however, never of the full weight. The standard price of uncut gems, weighing one carat, is from seven dollars and a half to ten dollars, according to their purity, shape, &c.; that of the "brilliant" cut is thirty to forty dollars; the "rose" cut is worth about half as much as the brilliants of the same weight and quality. The rule by which diamonds of all sizes are estimated is to multiply the square of the weight by the above prices. A diamond of the first water, "brilliant cut," and weighing three hundred carats, would be as large as a hen's egg, and would be worth $3,600,000.

Touches of Life.

A few nights since the passengers in a crowded street car were startled by the soft cooings of a couple in one corner. A blue veil hid the lady's face, and the gentleman's hands was playing nervously with its folds.

"You love me, then?" they heard him say.

The reply was in a tone less loud, but its accent was tender as the heart could wish.

"I have loved you so long," the swain continued, "and I have been almost afraid to indulge the sweet hopes that are now resolving themselves into certainty."

"Was you afraid of pa?"

"No, but of you."

"Why should you be afraid of me?"

"Because it seemed so impossible that you should love me."

"Why?"

"I'm homely, my face is not handsome; I have nothing that attracts the love of women."

"But you are rich, 'the lady archly replied.

"Passing so, but not very."

The conversation had by this time grown absorbingly interesting and every ear was listening in the crowded car.

"Would you marry me if I was poor!"

"How can you ask—am I mercenary?"

"No—but so many are."

There was a momentary silence, and then the whispered conversation was resumed with a mutual confession. In plain words, both acknowledged resemblance to Job's turkey—neither had a cent. They would commence their married life very much as they begun the world—with nothing. The mutual confession was evidently a damper on their enthusiasm. They were silent. The lady cast furtive glances at the swain, and at last murmured audibly:

"I'm too young to marry."

The tone was disappointed. It had a hesitating accent about it that meant more than the language. But the answer came heartily—bluff, and to the point.

"So am I."

"We've both been mistaken."

"Yes."

And so they had. They left the car quietly. The question of marriage was thoroughly understood. There was to be no wedding.—N. O. Picayune.

"The Ruling Passion Strong in Death."

The New York Star, in an article on betting relates the following:

A distinguished physician was called to attend an inveterate better, who was attacked with a sudden and dangerous sickness. After a careful diagnosis, the doctor assured him that his condition was extremely critical, and his chances of recovery very doubtful. Thereat the patient rallied somewhat, and the following colloquy ensued:

"I'll bet you a hundred dollars, doctor, that I don't die."

"My dear sir, you may not, but I think it proper to advise you that, in my opinion, you will."

"Well, doctor, if I die will I go to heaven?"

"I hope so, sir."

"Will I be an angel?"

"Yes, sir."

"Will I have wings?"

"I presume so, sir."

"Well now, doctor, when you die will you go to heaven and be an angel?"

"I trust so, sir."

"And will you have wings?"

"Yes, I suppose I will."

"Well, then, doctor, I'll bet you a hundred dollars that I will out fly you."

The man died; but the doctor, who has not yet taken the bet, is still living. If, as some theorists hold, we take with us into the new world the same propensities we have in this, we have no doubt that all the betting young Americans, and old too, who read this, will, in due time, be running around to make bets on the flying match of our deceased sport, whose ruling passion was strong in death.

Counsels for the Young.

Never be worried by trifles. If a spider breaks his thread twenty times, twenty times will he mend it again. Make up your mind to do a thing and you will do it. Fear not if troubles come upon you; keep up your spirits, though the day be a dark one.

"Troubles never stop forever—
The darkest day will pass away."

If the sun is going down, look at the stars; if the earth is dark, keep up your eyes on heaven. With God's promise a man or child may be cheerful.

"Never despair when fog's in the air;
A sunshiny morning will come without warning."

Mind what you run after. Never be content with a bubble that will burst, or a firework that will end in smoke and darkness. Get that which you can keep and which is worth keeping—

"Something sterling, that will stay
When gold and silver fly away."

Fight hard against a hasty temper. Anger will come, but resist it stoutly. A spark may set a house on fire. A fit of passion may give you cause to mourn all the days of your life. Never revenge an injury.

"He that revengeth knows no rest;
The meek possess a peaceful breast."

If you have an enemy act kindly to him and make him your friend. You may not win him over at once, but try again. Let one kindness be followed by another, till you have compassed your end. By little, great things are completed.

"Water falling day by day
Wears the hardest rock away."

And so repeated kindness will soften a heart of stone.

MERE courage, even if it be heroic after the human standard, often evaporates under slow discouragement; but perseverance, under discouragement—the steady struggling onward through hours of weakness—the rising upwards still above all doubt and fear, the eye fixed on the coming light in the midst of darkness and perplexity—the hard work continued, notwithstanding opposition, distrust, disappointment, failing health; and this made harder by the bitter consciousness of sin, and by inward temptations which no one can fully undrstand but the tempted man himself, this holy tenacity of purpose is what we need, in this life of cloud and conflict, as much as anything in the world: and of this holy tenacity the Apostle Paul is an eminent example.—Dr. Howson.

THE ELECTION AND ITS LESSON.

The Altoona Tribune like nearly every other newspaper is looking around to find the causes which led to our defeat. It says "The election is over and the Democrats hereabouts are rejoicing, and the Republicans trying to cypher out the causes which led to their unexpected overthrow in the Congressional and Senatorial contests." It then trys to be a little jocklular and makes use of some in[illegible] remarks, which we confess, as connected with the Hon. D. J. Morell we cannot understand. It is well known that four years ago Mr. Morell carried his district by a triumphant majority and that two years ago he was re-elected. It is also known that he is one of the truest and best tariff men in the State of Pennsylvania. Such men should be kept in Congress from year to year, without reference to party, but the difficulty is to educate the people up to this point. The South understood it before the war, and from year to year she returned her able and capable men. The result was, they became strong, a power in the Government which culminated in rebellion. The Northern people refuse to learn this lesson, and in consequence of local and personal jealousies such men as Mr. Morell must be sacrificed. We are sorry he is defeated, and yet we must say to our friend of the Tribune if you had nominated that staunch old Republican Mr. Calvin for Congress, he would have carried the District and saved us the Senatorial district. This is a fact which cannot be gainsayed. It will not do to run candidates for Congress the third time, unless their nomination is asked for by the united voice of the people. Mr. Morell was not asked by the united voice of his constituents to be a candidate the third time, hence his defeat and with him went down our popular candidate for the Senate, Wm. P. Wilson, Esq. Notwithstanding these facts the Tribune publishes the following remarks upon our Senatorial candidates.

"In reference to the Senatorial contest the Republicens was by no means sanguine. While the Democrats, of this locality at least, were not exactly suited in their nominees, still they worked for them unitedly. On the other hand the Republican candidates were unpopular at home, and not popular abroad. That they were men of ability, and would have made good Senators, those who know them will fully agree, but their nomination had been "set up" too long, and when it was made it was known to be the weakest that could have been made, if not positively obnoxious to the majority of the party. Whether any of the other aspirants for the nomination could have saved the district to the Republicans, is a question we cannot answer; certainly they could not have been more roughly handled."

The Tribune is as unkind as it is untrue in reference to our Senatorial candidate. We shall wait for the Lewistown Gazette to speak for Mr. Woods; but for Wm. P. Wilson we will speak, and speak by the record. The vote which was polled in his favor in the Borough of Bellefonte, proves that the statement of the Tribune is false when applied to him. Mr. Wilson is and was emphatically, Centre counties strongest and best man, for that position. His nomination was the voice of the people the work of the people, and was not "set up too long." His nomination was the peoples own work, and he could not have been defeated by any other man in the county. Will the Tribune be kind enough, fair enough to tell us where it received its authority for saying that the "Republican candidates were unpopular at home?"

It is not true and Wm. P. Wilson, to day is stronger in defeat, than are his villifiers in his own party, and stronger than Crawford & Petrikin the accidental Senators of this District. This District has always given a decided Republican majority in Presidential or Gubernatorial elections, and yet when we take a look at the figures, it has never been carried by a clear majority Senatorially. Hall and Haines were saved by the soldier's vote. Robison was made Senator by a contest, and clear and indubitable frauds. We need not here repeat the story of Wm. A. Wallace and his coffee pot.

The Juniata Sentinel, the Lewistown Gazette and other papers take a pretty correct view of the situation, but the Altoona Tribune presumes too much and presumes against facts and figures when it says that Wm. P. Wilson is unpopular at home. It is not right that a great party like the Republican should suffer its good and true men to be defeated by its own action, by local and personal feuds; but when defeated by these causes, it is clearly wrong that any paper claiming to be Republican should attempt to injure those candidates, by saying that "they were unpopular at home." The fact to which we would call the attention of the Tribune is, that it was a ground swell in central Pennsylvania, and even your popular candidate for Congress, Mr. Morell could not save our Senatorial District. And now dear Tribune one parting word, let us not quarrel over non essentials; but let us stand by our principles and our defeated candidates and with all our energy, and the glory of our organization, rally again for victory, triumph, principle.

DAVID W. WOODS, and WILLIAM P. WILSON.

Every Republican in the district will cheerfully bear witness to the earnestness and faithfulness with which these gentlemen conducted the recent canvass. From the time of their nomination up to the close of the polls last Tuesday they devoted their entire time and attention to this work. Although defeated by the apathy and treachery of pretended friends, they deserve the thanks of all true Republicans in the district, and we hope yet to see them receive their reward.—Juniata Republican.

FALSE ALARM.—It was reported on Saturday last, that Gen. Simon Cameron U. S. Senator was striken down by paralysis in Baltimore, and brought to Harrisburg on a special car. We are pleased to learn that there was no truth in the story, further than a slight indisposition. From the Telegraph of the 24th inst., we learn that the General was upon the street on that day looking well as usual.

STATE OFFICIAL.—The official vote of Pennsylvania shows that the Republicans have carried the State by a majority of the popular vote of 4,208. Good for the old Keystone. Where is Meek and his rooster now? Next fall we will carry the State by 30,000.

HON. W. H. ARMSTRONG—AND HIS DEFEAT—SHERWOOD AND FREE TRADE.

We cannot find language to express our sorrow over the defeat of Hon. W. H. Armstrong. He is defeated in the district by 27 votes. The Potter county Journal an able and sound Republican paper contains the following:

"From our present information the Hon. W. H. Armstrong, our present able member of Congress, is defeated by a small majority. A dispatch came to us on Monday evening, saying that Sherwood was elected by two majority which we fear is to true. This is a most unexpected result, and hard to be accounted for. The district is fully 2000 majority Republican, with a strict party vote. Has little, pety jealousies by disappointed office seekers, induced them to sacrifice so good a man as Mr. Armstrong, as well as the great public interests at stake? We can only attribute to those Republicans who voted against Mr. Armstrong on such grounds, the meanest kind of venality in lieu of manly honor or principle. Our neighbor Co., Tioga, has made a shameful record on this question.

It was represented to us that the local feud in Tioga county, would not injure the election of Hon. W. H. Armstrong. The result proves that it did injure him over 1000 votes. While we confess that Centre county disappointed us—that the majority is over 300 more than we anticipated against Mr. Armstrong, we were not prepared for the news from Tioga. We had here our disappointed office seekers—men who showed by their conduct, that Mr. Armstrong was right in refusing them office, yet we were not prepared to believe that over six hundred of our good and true Republicans were so indifferent to the result of Protection, or free trade, as to remain away from the polls, and thus suffer our county to go by default.

Since the election we have conversed with nearly two hundred Republicans who say they are sorry they did not vote, and declare that they most undoubtedly would have done so; but for the reason that they thought Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Wilson safe. They tell us that they had no hope of carrying the County ticket, and feeling sanguine as to the result they remained at home. Oh! what a mistake. We trust this election will teach our friends the importance of one vote—the importance of turning out to the election and polling our full vote.

It is thus apparent that the true friends of Hon. W. H. Armstrong, were too sanguine, and that general apathy defeated us. We repeat, we are sorry that so good a man as Mr. Armstrong is defeated, so sound upon the tariff question, so sound upon all the principles advocated by the great Republican party. But we can stand it if the working men, farmers and mechanics of the district can. If our iron masters and our working men can prosper under free trade, we are confident that we can survive. But the experiment is a dangerous one, and we hope it will not be repeated. The defeat of Mr. Armstrong is a national calamity and the Phila. Day of Saturday last so expresses it. After many and strong encomiums upon this pure upright man it says:

"Among the reverses sustained by the Republicans in the congressional delegation at the late election, that of Hon. W. H. Armstrong in the Eighteenth district, is to be regretted. Mr. Armstrong is known and recognized as one of the ablest men in the commonwealth, and what is still more rare than ability, he is a man of irreproachable character both in private and public life. It is given to such men to uphold the dignity of representative government, and their defeat is a public loss, without reference to political affiliation. Like Mr. Bucklew, Mr. Armstrong is not given to ad captandum arts in political warfare; a fact which doubtless account somewhat for his unexpected defeat in a strong Republican district. He is a man who scorns a meanness, and has unlimited faith in pure motives and just dealings. His defeat resulted from a combination of adverse circumstances. Local divisions reduced his majority in Tioga county, an assault being made upon a portion of the county ticket by disaffected Republicans, who traded freely with the majority on the congressional ticket. Mr. Armstrong's public career has been such, thus far, that neither he nor his party will have reason to blush for it."

The Gazette and Bulletin published in Williamsport, Pa., in an article before the election said:

"Mr. Armstrong is the nominee of the "Republican party of the district and "as such should be voted for by the Republicans. His votes in Congress are "on the right side and for the right "measures. He is firmly and reliably for "protection to American industry," &c. &c.

For the Republican.

THE RAILROAD.

HARRIS TOWNSHIP, Oct. 12th 1870.

MESSRS EDITORS:—Will you permit a Farmer of Harris, to say a few words in your paper in regard to the building of the L. C. & S. C. Railroad, more particularly of that portion of the road which is to be constructed through this tp.

Present appearance indicate that the progress of the road is stayed by the people of this tp., who are not as unanimous on the subject of rendering the required pecuniary aid as they should be. If we want to secure the building of the road our farmers must first banish from their minds all sectional and selfish feelings which now appear to be the only bar to the entire sucess of the undertaking. As soon as we all do this, the completion of the road through Pennsvally is an insured success. I am aware that there has been a great deal said on this subject and very little done by our citizen farmers, and often when I ask my brother farmers to subscribe stock I am met with the remark that "it is an old story and I am tired of it." Now, this is all wrong, for no beneficial project was ever completed without great personal effort on behalf of its friends. That the completion of our railroad would be of vast pecuniary benefit to all our farmers and all other citizens of this tp., no one pretends to deny. This fact all acknowledge. We should, all of us, not only talk railroad, but act railroad and never tire in our well doing until all feel a united interest in the undertaking. Is it possible brother farmer, that we will allow a few local prejudices to overshadow our united pecuniary welfare? We cannot believe it. Now, as I remarked before, if we want our railroad completed, we must banish all selfishness from our minds and unitedly work together, and that quickly, if we wish to secure the building of the road. The completion of the road is still within our grasp if we make the proper efforts. By taking as many shares of stock as we are able, according to the value of our lands, and it is all we are asked to do, it would not come so hard on the few. No person should expect his neighbor to make money for him by giving for him at his own expense when said person, perhaps is more able to contribute his means than yourself, and who does nothing towards helping to secure the completion of the railroad through our valley. The work of building our railroad belongs to all, and when completed all will be benefited by its construction. All we give will come back to us two fold. There is great danger in delaying our work. If we put it off much longer the chances are ten to one that we never will get another as good an offer, as we now have. The people along the line are offered by a substantial company that if they will furnish money enough to pay for about one third what the road costs that they will furnish the balance and complete the road. Now all the money furnished by our farmers will be expended right among us with as much more. Our lands will increase in value, and we will have a market right at our own doors for all that we wish to sell while constructing the road and permanently thereafter, so I cannot see any bad investment about it. We are all able to give something, and if we have not the money let us borrow it. If we cannot borrow it we can sell a portion of our land and raise the money that way, and when the road is completed, we would still be better off than we are now. Every person ought to know that all public improvements help to build churches, gives easy access to markets, builds up manufacturing establishments and stimulates trade of all kinds, making distant places near neighbors, thus enlarging our social qualities which always improve the morals of the neighborhood thereby eventually making good society and better public schools, to be enjoyed, if not by us, by our children. Now, my friends, look at this subject in any light that you may and you will find that we will be pecuniarily, morally and socially benefited by the completion of our vally road. That being the case, let us, good citizens of Harris, unitedly put our shoulders to the wheel and secure the completion of this great work. Let us banish all bitterness of feeling and jealousies of location, and at once secure the building of the road by complying with the request of the parties who furnish two thirds of the money required for its completion.

A WORKING FARMER.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN SYNOD OF CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA.—This Synod met in Lock Haven on Tuesday evening, the 4th instant. In the absence of the President, the Rev. A. A. Guss preached the synodical sermon on 1 Cor. 4: 15, 26.

At the last meeting of the Synod, at Perrysville in June last, it was resolved to change the time of the annual meetings from spring to fall. It is therefore only four months since its last meeting. The attendance of the members was, however, very good, very few ministers being absent, and quite a number of visiting brethren from other Synods.

On Thursday morning the Synod was organized in the usual way, Rev. Guss opening the session in the absence of the President.

The President's report contained nothing unusual.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Rev. E. Studebecker; Secretary, Rev. H. C. Schindel; Treasurer, Rev. W. H. Diven.

Thursday afternoon was mainly occupied in the discussion of educational business. The Synod resolved to support six beneficiaries during the current year, and earnest efforts were urged to raise the necessary funds.

The proceedings on Friday and Saturday related, among the usual routine of synodical business, to the cause of missions and education. Synod resolved to support six beneficiaries during the coming year, for which nine hundred dollars will be necessary. A committee, appointed to report on the financial condition of the Synod, reported that $2,500 were necessary to pay off the indebtedness and carry on all the present benevolent operations of the Synod during the current year. This amount was distributed among the different charges, at the rate of 41 cents to every church member.

One of the brethren proposed some radical changes, such as the abolishment of the license system, and the setting aside of the ministerium, but neither of these changes was adopted.

The election of delegates to the General Synod resulted as follows:

Clerical—Rev. Dr. H. Ziegler, J. K. Miller, J. Hackenberger, and H. C. Schindel.

Lay Delegates—Messrs. Kessler, of Lock Haven; Sahm, of Mifflintown; Hamilton, of Lewistown; and Wolf, of Bellefonte.

Mr. M. L. Keipler was on Friday evening licensed to preach the Gospel. He has been called to the pasterate of the Lutheran Church of Duncannon, Pa.

On Sunday morning, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered both in the English and in the German churches. Addresses were also delivered before the Sunday schools, both in the English and in the German congregations.

The next meeting of this Synod is to take place at Mifflinburg, Pa., in the charge of Rev. Keipler, on the last Thursday of Sep., 1871.

EXAMINATION DAY AT EDEN SEMINARY.

UNIONVILLE, Oct. 22d, 1870.

MESSRS EDITORS:—The excitement of the election has about subsided and we up in this part of the County, have resolved not to secede but to put our shoulders to the wheel and try again, we are not discouraged by any means. Our village has been rather quiet for some time. We had the plesaure of quite a literary treat on the 4th inst., the examination at the close of the summer term of Mrs. Cleavers "Eden Seminary." The day was beautiful, and the exercises were witnessed by a large and appreciative audience who were highly gratified at the manner in which Miss Lou. A. Wright (preceptress) conducted the examination. The Ladies and Gents, acquited themselves in a very creditable manner during their lengthy journey in Physiology, History and the higher Mathematics. We were enlivened frequently during the day with Essays, Orations and Dialogues. The paper edited by Miss Annie Campbell, was an agreeable feature. The valedictory by Miss Mattie Russek was particularly impressive upon that occasion. Miss Wright proved herself more than ordinary in her noble profession. Her farewell address to the students was one of the best that has ever been our privilege to listen to, and we sincerely wish that all the teachers and students of Centre Co., could be made feel the truths that it contained.

A very acceptable address was made by Prof. Wright, of Bloomsburg.

May the Eden Seminary continue to prosper.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,
Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,
Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell.
For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.
DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.
They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.
FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.
PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.
J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

LOCAL ITEMS.

HIGH.—High silk hats are all the rage with our short men.

SCARLET FEVER.—This pest of the nursery is again making its appearance among the little folks.

MUSIC.—The Milesburg String Band furnished the music on the occasion of Olive Logan's lecture in this place. Of course it was good.

LECTURED.—A Female M. D., has been lecturing the good people of Philipsburg upon anatomy &c. It was quite a novelty to them.

CELEBRATED.—The Cold Stream Temple of Honor of Philipsburg celebrated its natal day on last Friday. They had a good time generally.

FIRE.—The mill owned by Judah Whitcomb, in Rush township, was destroyed by fire on last Tuesday week. Loss $6,000; insured for $3,500.

WILD GEESE.—The sportsmen about Philipsburg deceived and captured several wild geese who were on their road to more congenial climes, one day last week.

THANKSGIVING.—President Grant has appointed Thursday the 24th of November next, as a day to give thanks for the bounty of God during the year about to close.

NEW HOUSE.—Mr. C. G. Hireley of Philipsburg, has commenced the erection of a brick dwelling house, and intends having it completed before the cold weather commences.

LECTURE.—Rev. Mr. Welsh, (colored) a graduate of Oberlin college, Ohio, and a son of John Welsh of this place, delivered a very interesting lecture in the African Church of Bellefonte on the 18th inst.

AN HONEST MAN.—We believe it was Solomon who said that "an honest man was the noblest work of God." If his remark is true, we opine that the Lord has not been working very much in the Bellefonte vineyard lately.

GOT HIS BACK BROKE.—A boy named Floutz, aged about ten years, a resident of Port Matilda, Centre county, while locking a wheel on a wood wagon, a few days ago, fell, the wagon passing over him, breaking his back.

JOHN SHEEPMAN, who was so seriously injured week before last by falling upon a circular saw while in motion, is recovering, but has a piece of his skull, about the size of an old-fashioned copper cent, cut completely out.—Philipsburg Journal.

FORT WOODRING.—The fort on the hill is garrisoned by only seven of the National Guard. The gallant commander reports provisions plenty and the soldiers determined to hold the Fort at all hazards untill relieved by the Department Commander.

PAY IN ADVANCE.—We can see no reason why Church Associations of all denominations should not pay the quarterly saleries of the Preacher in advance. It would be the most convenient, systematic, and decidedily cheering to the minister.

FOR SALE.—A valuable Hotel property for sale, in Central City, with all the modern improvements. It is one of the best stands both for store and hotel in Central Pennsylvania. For further particulars apply at the office of the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN. n42tf.

A LEAKY HOUSE.—On the night of our late election, two citizens of this place belonging to the "Grand Mobile" army, after partaking freely of benzine patriotism found themselves lying in a gutter on Water street. After getting pretty well soaked, one them remarked; "Jimlet's go to another hotel, this house leaks."

GOODS DISAPPEARING.—The way the goods are being carried away from G. D. Pifer's store, in the Brockerhoff row Bellefonte, shows conclusively that he is indeed selling off his entire stock at cost, and that there is no humbug about it. We advise our friends to call in and secure some of the bargains before it is forever too late.

EARTHQUAKE.—Three distinct shocks of an earthquake were severely felt on the 20th inst., in the New England states, Canada, Northern Ohio and Northern Pennsylvania. If it had only occured in this part of the state on the 11th inst., some of our dilatory Republicans might have been roused to their duty and the result of the election would have been different.

ABSENT MINDED.—We recently heard of a case of absent mindedness that might have proved fatal. A school teacher having occasion to punish one of her pupils, did so by locking her in a closet. The day wore away and the school was dismissed. A paper boy heard the cries of a child and upon examination found the little girl locked in the closet, nearly dead from fright, where she had been forgotten by her teacher. Such forgetfulness should not happen too often.

ENERGY.—It is with pleasure we chronicle the success of our enterprising young Insurance friend E. H. Kinsloe. The indomitable energy with which he worked, attracted the attention of the officers of several of our best companies and culminated last week in his appointment as "Special Agent" for the "Travelers Life and Accident Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut," at a salary of $2,000 per annum. Energy like his cannot long remain unrewarded. We congratulate him upon this appointment, wishing him abundant success and higher honors.

BRIGHT SIDE.—Miss Olive Logan, delivered her very popular lecture entitled the "Bright Side" in Reynolds' Hall, on Tuesday evening the 18th inst., to a very large intelligent and attentive audience. The subject was handled in a most finished manner, and presented to the audience in such style, as to entertain, instruct and please, and win for home better satisfied with a literary treat the lecturer repeated applause. There is no doubt that hearers never returned or more thoroughly convinced that every thing has its bright side as well as dark, and more fully resolved to try and keep an eye for the bright side always, than they did from the lecture hall on the evening of the 18th inst. The lecture was the first of a course for the season, to be given under the auspices of the "Young Men's Christian Association of Bellefonte." The fact of the lecture being decidedly a success, not only augars well for the remainder of the course, but evinces the fact also, that the citizens of Bellefonte and vicinity, are ready to patronize and support an effort in the right direction. The committee and management may congratulate themselves, on the success of their efforts thus far, and that they have secured such a brilliant array of talent for the entire course as to ensure the highest intellectual entertainment, general satisfaction, and complete success. The object for which this course of lectures has been gotten up, being a most worthy one, the aiding of the Association under the auspices of which the course is given, commends itself to the whole public, and should receive its most hearty and cordial support.

THE REPUBLICAN.—We appropriate the following remarks of a contemporary, and apply them to our own case: The election campaign of this summer is now over, and we can again settle ourselves down to the more quiet and unobtrusive affairs and interests of life. A large portion of our paper has necessarily and we can add, cheerfully, been devoted to the printing of matter exclusively of a political character, and some of our more retired readers have no doubt grown somewhat weary of it. The usual variety of local and instructive reading has been crowded out to give place to that of a public character, pertaining to the interests and welfare of the country, which, however important, is not always sufficiently relished by a certain class. Now that the campaign is over, we can breathe freely again and resume our position in the editorial chair with a view of laying before our readers a weekly paper, which, while it persistently advocates the great Republican principles which lie at the foundation of free, Christian government, will at the same time constitute the charm of the family circle and the delight of the general reader.

SAM SHAPLEY'S SILVER SHOW.—This troup, consisting of the Royal Conjuror, Logrenia and his European troupe of trained birds, mice and cats, will give three entertainments at Reynolds' Opera House, commencing Friday, Oct. 28th. They will also give one Matinee Friday afternoon Oct. 29th when childred will be admitted for 15 cents each. The following is from the Utica Herald.

"THE CONJUROR."—Logrenia was greeted with a good house last evening, and he deserved to be. His tricks were numerous and novel, and enabled him to display his perfect mastery of the conjuror's art. They were done so openly and so easily, that even the small boys, who assisted in their performance were astonished and mystified, especially the boy who blew on the magic instrument to keep a ball suspended in the air, and by a back action of the hateful thing received a charge of flour in the face.

But the performance of the trained birds, mouse and cat, were even more marvelous than the tricks of their master. One bird fired off a cannon, others walked a tight rope, still another mounted a ladder, and a fifth drew a miniature carriage in which were seated two birds dressed in fashionable costume. Presents were distributed, at the close of the exercises to every person in the house.

WHAT IS MAN.—Chemistry says that a man who weighs 170 pounds, is composed of less than fifty pounds of carbon and nitorgen diffused through six pails of water. That is, if a 160 pound man be squeezed flat by a press, 120 pounds of water would run out, and there would be left but forty pounds of the body. We know some who are so gassy, that it would bother chemistry to weigh the residue left in the press.

OUR SCHOOLS.—We fear that some of our teachers are imposing too severe a task upon their pupils. They ought not to be required to study much if any out of school hours. The matter of compelling a half grown child to commit to memory five octavo pages on a dry subject, within twenty-four hours, in addition to three or four other lessons, borders on the idea we call "stuffing."—Lewistown Democrat.

PHOTOGRAPHS.—Persons who want superior photographs, should not fail to call on C. W. Glenn, at his photograph car, near the bridge, who furnishes them upon short notice and upon accomodating terms. Mr. Glenn is originally from Boalsburg, this county, and is a reliable gentleman who thoroughly understands his business, and well deserves the success that has so far attended his efforts.

SCRUTUATORY.—"Ma'am," said a quack to a nervous old lady, "your case is a scrutuatory complaint." "Pray, doctor, what is that?" "It is the dropping of the nerves, ma'am; the nerves have fallen into the pizarintum, the chest becomes morberous, and the head goes tizarizen." "Ah! doctor," exclaimed the old lady, "you have described my feelings exactly."

REMOVED TO CLEARFIELD.—C. L. Gordon, Esq., a talented young member of the Bellefonte Bar, has removed to Clearfield Pa., where he proposes to make his future residence. The people of that place will find in Mr. Gordon, a man of integrity, ability and industry. He carries with him to his new field of labors, the well wishes of a host of friends.

AFTER A VOTE.—One of our physicians driving into town on election morning, was met by a friend, who halted him with the question, "Have you voted?" "Not yet," replied the doctor, "but I have been out all night after a voter; I got him safe, too." "When will he vote?" "Oh, about twenty-one years from now."

SERVING THE LORD.—That incorrigible "cuss," Josh Billings, says that "if a man professes to serve the Lord, he likes to see him do it when he measures unions as well as when he hollers glory halleluyer."

Josh will deliver a lecture in Bellefonte, soon, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association

For the REPUBLICAN.

HAVE WE A TOWN COUNCIL.—This question is often asked, by persons who take a survey of the situation and contemplate the exorbitant expenditures and wasteful extravagance of the body now claiming to be the town council. We propose to ask it in another sense, and in view of the fact that the election is now over, it would be well for us to examine the laws which provide for the election of Councilmen and Borough officers.

The Charter of the Borough of Bellefonte, among other things provide that, "The election of Borough officers shall be held on the first Monday of May, in each and every year." In 1857 the Borough of Bellefonte was granted by the Court an enlargement of the charter, admitting her to all the privileges and benefits of the general borough law. The Act of April 3d 1857, under which the Court extended the privileges of the General Borough law to the Borough of Bellefonte, provides that "The Charter set forth the time and place of holding the annual Borough election." The Act of 1869 did not change the time and place of holding the annual election, and the Borough officers elected under the Act of 1869 were illegally elected, consequently their acts are illegal and void.

There is no town council, because the new members were not legally elected, and could not legally organize that body by the election of proper officers, and all its acts, appointments, contracts, assessments, levies of taxes, payments of monies; and orders in council are illegal and void.

If there should fail to be an election of a Chief Burgess, or if the one elected should fail to serve, then it is provided that, "The acting Chief Burgess shall issue his precept for an election to fill the office of Chief Burgess, said election to be held on notice given by the Constable eight days preceeding such election."

There is no Chief Burgess, Assistant Burgess or High Constable now; and all the acts of the persons claiming to hold these positions legally, are void, since the first Monday of May last.

There being no Borough officers there can be no legal Board of appeals. There is no legal corporate officers, no legally organized Council, no legal levy of taxes, no legal appeal, no legal collection of taxes, &c., for the Borough of Bellefonte. No man can be required to pay taxes, and no man can dare to act as collector, under penalty of prosecution from each man or woman he may demand taxes from.

Under the Act of April 3d 1851. "There shall not be levied for Borough taxes more than one-half of one per cent," yet the levy of this and preceeding years has been far beyond this.

We ask who is responsible for all the work done in the Borough, and all the money spent? Are the Town Ccouncil individually liable or are the men who do the work to suffer the loss?

Burdensome, onerous illegal taxation, reckless and criminal extravagance in expenditures, violation of Charter and Borough law in changing time of holding elections, illegal organization of Council, illegal giving out of contracts, illegal appointment of Collector, Street Commissioner, Superintendent of Water Works, Police, Clerk of Council, Treasurer, &c., together with an illegal Burgess, Assistant Burgess, and High Constable, show such a state of affairs as calls for the closest scrutiny in the hart of the TAX PAYER.

MIGRATED.—Our young friends, H. O. Kline and J. M. Zimmerman of this county have taken leave of us and located in Bedford Pa., for the purpose of conducting the Insurance business, under the firm name of H. O. Kline & Co.

Both these young men were among the ablest teachers in our county. They realized the importance of education and labored earnestly and zealously for its extension. The profession of teaching in our county has in their departure, lost two members who were liked and appreciated by all, and whose places it will be difficult to fill.

The Republican party of this county has lost, also in their departure, two live and energetic Republicans. We had hoped to chronicle, at no distant day, their advent to the legal fraternity at this place, but fully conscious of the present crowded condition of our bar, they felt that it was necessary for them to engage in other business, in order to secure a livelihood.

To the citizens of Bedford, we can conscientiously and without mental reservation say, that in these young men, you have secured the citizenship of two persons, known in this county as being men of the strictest integrity and honesty of purpose. We trust they may receive, at your hands, a hearty welcome, as well as cordial sympathy and a liberal share of your insurance patronage.

SPASMS.—The poor are generally virtuous.

Deceptive dishonesty is called shrewdness by half-fledged idiots.

Conciliation is a virtue not sufficiently practiced by professing christians and mankind in general.

Toleration is a virtue which if not practiced in a family leads to contentions and demoralization of its members. A community is a family on a large scale.

What will be the latter disposition of merchants who give liberally to the church and are foremost in religious exercises on Sundays, but on week days sand and water their sugar, diminish their weights, shorten their yard sticks and curtail their measures? We read that such acts are "an abomination in the sight of the Lord" and the community believe it.

POP VISIT.—Thos. Nolan, Esq., formerly of this place but now of Washington D. C., gave us a call one day last week. Mr. Nolan is an honored member of the "Art Preservative" and wears his lauraels with becoming grace. As a good workman few can excel him, and as a gentleman none are his superiors.

CALL AGAIN.—One day last week we had the pleasure of grasping the Republican hand of O. A. Harvey, the Chairman of the Republican committee of Clinton county. Mr. Harvey is a Republican through and through and under all circumstances works like a Trojan for the success of his party.

A NEW PAPER PROPOSED.—The Democrats of Blair county propose establish ed a new Republican paper in that county. They assert that with the aid of another "Republican organ" there would be no difficulty in their party carrying the county next fall.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD.—The Presbyterian synod of Harrisburg, met in that place, Wednesday 19th inst. This synod was created out of the old Presbyteries lying between the Maryland boundary and the first tier of counties, north and south, and between Schuylkill and Lebanon counties and the Allegheny mountains, east and west, the first session of which was held in this place this summer. The meeting of the synod of Harrisburg appears to have been of a very interesting character, and much good is anticipated to flow from the results of its session. The following reported remarks of Messrs. H. N. M'Allister and Wiled of this place we take from the published proceedings:

Mr. M'Allister was next introduced and also spoke on the subject of home missions. He said we are stewards, and we shall be held accountable for our stewardship. Whom do we bring into the church? Jesus preached to the poor. How many poor enter our churches? It is our duty to exert ourselves to the utmost to bring them in. We must allay the prejudices of those we would bring to the Savior. Who is our neighbor? Every one we can reach; and we cannot pass by on this side or that. There is so much talk about money. The Lord has talked about money for sustentation as much as he has talked about prayer. The command there is give, work, prayer. The Chinese are coming and the Africans are here. The skin or color does not relieve us of the obligation we owe to them; but there is work among our color with those who will not work elsewhere. He denounced proselyting. Take those who have no church connections, and we will have enough. Religion is an individual matter. We cannot be carried to heaven by the church.

Rev. W. T. Wylie offered a resolution to meet the state of affairs in the church. The resolution was, in substance, that the boards on foreign and domestic missions and on freedmen be requested to reduce the number of missionaries, entertain no more applications, and at once curtail all missionary expenses. He urged the consideration of his motion, for the reason that the church was now doing this indirectly, and he believed it would be better to lay the whole matter thus before the world than to allow such a course to be kept up. The resolution was not seconded.

ACCIDENT.—Wm. Galbraith, of this place, had his left arm caught in some machinery at the Planing mill, the other day, which nearly wrenched it from its socket. It was only by a mere chance that he escaped with his life. He is about again, and in a few days will be able to attend to his duties. All young men ought to insure against accidents.

A HAPPY FAMILY.—The Huntingdon papers are indulging in the luxury of a Killcany cat fight over the results of the late election in that county. Barnum's "Happy Family," with the Merc(l)l part thrown out, would be a peaceble improvement on their society.

MONTHLY REPORTS.—It would be of some advantage to the scholars and satisfactory to the parents, if the Principle of our Public schools would publish a monthly report giving the names of all scholars who do not miss a day and are not "tardy."

DEER.—Deer hunting is in season and many of our young people are improving it. Deer are very plenty this fall and quite tame, and consequently easy captured—in some cases too easy to make the hunt an exciting one.

LOVING.—The couple on Allegheny st., the other evening, if they don't wish their loving embraces to be publicly known should not make such loud profession of mutual esteem in public.

MARRIED.

On the 13th inst., at the residence of Hon. Geo. Worrick, by Rev. M. P. Crosthwaite, Geo. W. Tate, Esq., of Bellefonte, to Miss. Maggie Worrick, of Hamburg, of Clinton county.

May their blissful anticipations be fully realized and may they float down the stream of life to fields elysian without a wave or riffle to ruffle their passage.

DIED.

In Lewisburg, on the 14th inst., Mr. Franklin S. Wilson, of this place, aged 39 years.

OBITUARY.

The subject of this sketch, Franklin S. Wilson, was born in Salona, then Centre, now Clinton county, on the 18th day of August, 1831, and remained there until 1837, when his parents removed to the Old Fort, in Potter tp. They continued to reside there until 1842, when his father Hon. Saml. H. Wilson, died and his mother and family came to Bellefonte, where the deceased spent the remainder of his life.

In early youth he engaged in the Mercantile business as the junior member of the firm of Wilson Brothers. After the dissolution of this firm he engaged in Contracting, building successively the Stone bridge at the foot of High st., and the new Reservoir. During the last six years he was engaged in the Drug business, having purchased the old stand of Messrs J. & J. Harris.

His short life was one of constant business activity, and few men of his age were more widely or favorably known in this community. Mr. Wilson was endowed with a remarkable memory which enabled him to solve mentally arithmetical problems of great length and difficulty. That which most distinguished the deceased, was his genial affability and gentlemanly courtesy, and not a few among the poor and neglected, as well as among the polite and fashionable, will miss his kindly welcome and his genial smile. Early in July last Mr. Wilson began to show symptoms of rapid decline and every effort seemed unavailing to check the progress of the insideous disease which had marked him for its prey. In the beginning of September he went to Philadelphia to consult eminent Physicians there but receiving no encouragement he started home to die among his friends. Arriving at Lewisburg in a weak and exhausted condition he stopped to rest for a few days with his sister. But his earthly journeys were over and after a short illness of about three weeks he expired on the 14th inst., surrounded by sympathizing relatives and friends.

His remains were brought to Bellefonte on the 15th instant where a committee of the Masonic Order, of which the deceased was an honored member, conveyed them to the residence of his brother, Wm. P. Wilson, Esq. On Sunday the 16th inst., his body was carried to its final resting place in the Cemetery, followed by a very large procession of mourning relatives and sympathizing friends and neighbors. "After lifes fitful fever he sleeps well." M. Y. G.

VALUABLE CONTRIBUTION.—The following letter requires no explanation:

"BOSTON, September 7, 1870.

"To the Secretaries of the A. B. C. F. M.

"DEAR SIR:—We respectfully ask your acceptance of twenty of our best Cabinet Organs, (with recent improvements—Resonant Cases) for Missionary uses.

"We offer this donation in sympathy with the work, and also, as a grateful acknowledgment of the very liberal patronage extended to us by the American churches, in the wide introduction and use of our organs.

"The instruments will be delivered as you may order them, carefully packed for transportation to distant countries.

Very Respectfully,
Your Ob't servants,
MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO."

This is a very timely present. The money value of the donation amounts to between $4,000 and $5,000—and becomes of greater significance when coupled with the fact that Messrs. Mason & Hamlin have been unable to answer the cash orders for their instruments for several years past. Much as music adds to worship at home, it is of greater value in the foreign field, in giving interest to religious services. The instruments thus generously given, will be placed in seminaries and training schools, at the principal stations not already supplied. They will do much not only to encourage the hearts and to increase the influence of the missionaries, but to promote the "service of song" in many lands and languages.—Missionary Herald, Oct.

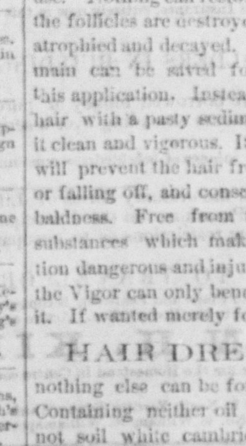
Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Grey Hair to its natural Vitality & Color.



A dress which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Fresh or grey hair is restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparation dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a
nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

This Remedy does not simply relieve for a short time, but it produces perfect and permanent cures of the worst cases of Chronic Nasal Catarrh, and I will pay $500 reward for a case that I cannot cure. "Cold in the head" and Catarrhal Headache are cured with a few applications. If you have a discharge from the nose, offensive or otherwise, stopping up of the nose at times, partial loss of the sense of smell, taste or hearing, eyes watering or weak, feel dull, have pain or pressure in the head, you may rest assured that you have Catarrh. Thousands annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, terminate in Consumption and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive or less understood by physicians. I will send my pamphlet on Catarrh to any address free. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is now

ROSADALIS.
THE GREAT AMERICAN health RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin diseases, Rheumatism, and all Chronic Affections of the blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens. Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.
Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:
I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.
Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he hasused Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.
Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesborough, Tenn., says:
I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.
Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.
Rosadalis is sold by F. P. GREEN, and Druggists generally.

Those who wish to enjoy good health, and a free flow of lively spirits, will do well to take the Wine of Life. It is different from any thing ever before in use. It is sold by druggists; also at all respectable saloons. Price, One Dollar, in quart bottles.

Cross-Breeding of Animals.

An English writer, who is well posted upon the subject, says:

"1st, That there is a direct pecuniary advantage in judicious cross-breeding; that increased size, disposition to fatten, and early maturity are thereby induced.

2d. That while this may be caused for the most part, by the very fact of crossing, yet it is principally due to the superior influence of the male over the size and external appearance of the offspring; so that it is desirable, for the purpose of the butcher, that the male should be of a larger frame than the female, and should excel in those peculiarities we are desirous of reproducing. Let it be here, however, repeated, as an exceptional truth, that though as a rule the male parent influences mostly the size and external form, and the female parent the constitution, general health and vital powers, yet that the opposite result sometimes takes place.

3. Certain peculiarities may be imparted to a breed by a single cross. Thus, the ponies of the New Forest exhibit characteristics of blood, although it is many years since that a thoroughbred horse was turned into the forest for the purpose. So, likewise, we observe in the Hampshire sheep the Roman nose and large heads which formed so strong a feature in their maternal ancestors, although successive crosses of the Southdown were employed to change the character of the breed.

It has been asserted by some observers, that when a female breeds successively from several different males, the offspring often bears a strong resemblance to the first male, which is supposed to arise from certain impressions made on the imagination or nervous system of the female. Although this is sometimes or often the case, we doubt very much whether it is so frequent as to be considered as a rule.

4th. Although in the crossing of sheep for the purpose of the butcher, it is generally advisable to use males of a large breed, provided they possess a disposition to fatten; yet, in such cases, it is of importance that the pelvis of the female should be wide and capacious, so that no injury should arise in lambing, in consequence of the increased size of the heads of the lambs. The shape of the ram's head should be studied for the same reason. In crossing, however, for the purpose of establishing a new breed, the size of the male must give way to other more important considerations; although it will still be desirable to use a large female of the breed which we seek to improve. Thus the Southdowns have vastly improved the larger Hampshires and the Leicesters the huge Lincolns and the Cotswolds.

5th. Although the benefits are most evident in the first cross, after which, from pairing the cross-bred animals, the defects of one breed or the other, or the incongruities of both are perpetually breaking out yet, unless the characteristics and conformation of the two breeds are altogether averse to each other, nature opposes no barrier to their successful admixture; so that in the course of time, by the aid of selection and careful weeding, it is practicable to establish a new breed altogether. This in fact, has been the history of our principal breeds.

When To Sell Grain.

Some farmers sell their grain at the right time, and realize good prices while others hold on for higher rates and lose money by so doing. These are men who profess to be able to inform farmers just when to sell, and when not to sell their grain; but such men are humbugs. They may give good advice, and they may do otherwise, because nobody can foretell events with a certainty. As a general rule when a farmer is offered a fair, paying price for anything he has to sell, he had better sell. A Wisconsin farmer says:

"I am told that in Wisconsin there is a large amount of $2.50 wheat still held by farmers, and the majority of these farmers have been in debt ever since they raised the crops. Four years ago barley was very high, worth $2 per bushel, with a prospect of being still higher. I hauled a number of bushels to market, but I thought I would not sell until I got it all in.—When I finished hauling, barley was down to $1.90. We all thought it was coming up again and as I thought my barley was $2 barley, I concluded to hold on a spell. Barley kept coming down, and I kept holding on for a year and a half; then I sold for 40 cents.

Sweet Potato Pudding.

Boil half pound sweet potatoes and press while hot through a grater, then add three eggs well beaten; one-fourth of a pound of sugar; the same of butter; some grated nutmeg and lemon rind, a glass of wine or brandy. Put a paste in the dish, and when the pudding is baked sprinkle the top with white sugar.

Custard Lemon Pie.

One lemon grated, one cup of sugar one tablespoonful of corn starch dissolved in the milk, the yolks of three eggs. Stir sugar, eggs, and grated lemon all together. Take the whites of the three eggs and beat to a froth, and sweeten with white sugar spread on the top, set in the oven and let it brown.

Tomato Fritters.

Make a thick batter of eggs, flour and milk; season well; cut the tomatoes in slices; dip them in the batter and fry in hot lard. Serve hot. This may be called a fancy dish, and every lover of the tomato will be delighted with this method of preparing it.

There is a man down east, rather a facetious fellow, whose name is New. He named his first child Something, as it was something new. His next child was called Nothing, it being nothing new.

If you do not sow you cannot reap. Plow deep or not at all.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also peoplewho, instead of travelling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest price.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere; if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality.

RANGING FROM $6,50 to $18,00

MANHOOD

In the Young and Rising Generation-

The vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so facinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision Langour, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

MANUFACTURED BY

J. E. SPENCER & CO.,

N. Y., which are now offered to the public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the

MOST PERFECT

Natural, Artificial help to the human eye ever known.

They are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy. THE SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLE on which they are constructed brings the core or centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural, healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use. They are Mounted in the Finest Manner, in frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose. THEIR FINISH AND DURABILITY cannot be surpassed.

CAUTION.—None genuine unless bearing their trade mark stamped on every frame.

FRANK P. BLAIR,
